

AMP MySuper 1950s

Quarterly Investment Option Update

31 December 2017

Aim and Strategy

The aim of this investment option is to provide returns primarily from capital growth and income over the long term through a diversified portfolio. This investment option is an aged-based investment, meaning that the strategy of this investment option will change progressively over an investor's lifetime to meet the objective of the average investor born during the 1950s.

This investment option will hold a slightly higher allocation to defensive assets, and will continue to shift towards a greater allocation to defensive assets over the life of the investment option to preserve capital.

The asset classes and asset allocation benchmark and ranges are determined with reference to the investment option's stage of its lifecycle – the time horizon to retirement and the investors' capacity to take on risk. Therefore the asset class allocations below will vary over time.

As at 1 January 2014, this investment option aims to achieve a rate of return above Consumer Price Index of 2.5 per cent, after fees and superannuation tax, over a 10 year period.

International investments may be partially or fully hedged back to Australian dollars. Subject to certain conditions, the underlying investments may use derivatives (such as options, futures, forwards and swaps) and engage in short selling.

The performance benchmark is the average weighted return of the benchmark indices used for each asset class.

Investment Option Commentary and Outlook

The AMP MySuper 1950s Fund returned a positive 2.9% in the December quarter. Encouraging economic releases and robust corporate earnings results boosted investor sentiment globally, which reflected favourably on risk-based assets.

Along with a strong quarterly result, the Fund's performance for 2017 was extremely good. The acceleration in synchronised global growth in markets over the year provided the foundation for strong performance across most asset classes. The Fund's allocation towards defensive assets, particularly fixed interest, had little impact on overall performance. With central banks beginning to tighten monetary policy and investors shifting to a risk on environment, yield-driven assets underperformed the Fund's equity allocation. The long held underweight exposure to Australian equities in favour of international equities (primarily through European equities) was positive for Fund returns, with global markets outperforming the domestic market. Supportive currency movements, improved corporate earnings and lower than anticipated geopolitical risks were the key drivers of growth in developed international markets. By contrast, lacklustre corporate earnings, regulatory pressures, and a lack of wage growth weighed on the performance of Australian equities. However, the market was still able to deliver double digit returns on the back of stronger commodity prices and global growth. Emerging market equities were also a key driver of Fund performance on the back of these factors

For the start of 2018, we remain relatively comfortable in maintaining a bias towards international equities through Europe. With a maturing business cycle in the US, increasing global equity valuations and gradual tightening of global monetary policy, markets could see some volatility through 2018. We have utilised option protection to mitigate any downside in Fund performances caused by a correction in equity markets. Our overall bond position remains underweight in favour of cash as we expect bonds to remain vulnerable to any evidence of inflationary pressure or monetary tightening.
